Juniors Have Enviable Record of Achievements

Class of 1941 Scores Successes in Social, Dramatic, and Entertainment Fields

More than 350 strong, the class of 1941 has made many contributions to all phases of school life at Field Kindley. The Juniors scored a dramatic and financial hit with the presentation of "Spring Fever," thereby assuring the seniors another junior-senior banquet, which was the high-light of the year's social calendar.

For two years the class of 1941 has elected a carnival king and queen to rule over the school's tun festival. In 1939 Emma Jane Staton and Clarence Ellis were so honored. This year Jeanne Ellen Tournay and Clarence were the successful nominees.

Individual talent abounds in the junior class, and members of the group have appeared frequently on assembly programs. The class is well represented in such organizations as the Drum Corps, Tornado Tillies, debate teams, athletic teams, and school clubs.

Sophomores May Be Record Group With 376 Students

Underclassmen Show Promise of Making Their Mark in All Departments of School Life

With an enrollment of 376, the class of 1942 entered Field Kindley in the fall of 1939 with the determination to succeed and make a name for itself. Miss Carrie Weaver was named sponsor of the group.

At the end of the first semester, the sophomores received public recognition for having more members of the class on the honor roll than either of the other classes. Again the class was lauded, when Kitty Karns' essay on "How to Become a Better Citizen" was adjudged a county-wide contest winner.

Many members of the class participate in the extra-curricular activities of the school, and talented members appear often on the programs of numerous civic and school functions.
