

Seeds of Health Elementary
Parent Involvement

Seeds of Health Elementary believes the education of children is a cooperative effort between parents and schools. Our staff recognizes that parents are their child's first teachers and are important sources of information and support. Seeds of Health Elementary believes there is a correlation between parent involvement and a student's success in school. As stated in our school handbook, developed by school representatives and parents, we believe that by working together, our children are successful.

Throughout the school year parents are provided with information about resources available to support student learning. This is communicated in a wide variety of ways. This information is shared with families through written correspondence in English and Spanish including monthly newsletters and through correspondence sent home in students' Friday Folders. Information is also provided on the school website, the parent information board and through monthly "Helping Children Learn" parenting tips. In addition, several activities are scheduled throughout the school year including Parent Advisory Council meetings, fall parent orientations, Open Houses, school board meetings, grade level literacy activities, parent conferences, and parent sharing events.

Seeds of Health Elementary is a Title I schoolwide program. Title I funding enables our program to support all children academically in a wide variety of ways. Seeds of Health Elementary believes that the school compacts are an integral part of our partnerships with families.
