

Unit One Reading Log Rubric—Now Boarding: Oh, the Places You’ll Go with Reading

Criteria	4—Exceeds	3—Meets	2—Approaches	1—Just Beginning	Comments
Challenging yourself	You read an average of 20 or more minutes a night at least five times last week OR you read an average of 10-20 more than five times.	You read an average of 10-20 minutes a night at least five times last week.	You read an average of 10 minutes a night at least five times last week.	You read less than an average of 5 minutes a night, OR you read less than five times last week.
Reflecting on your progress and making improvements	Your reflection on the previous week is extremely thorough and indicates genuine self-awareness. Further, your actions the following week demonstrate a sincere desire to improve. Hooray!	Your reflection on the previous week is very specific. Further, you used your reflection to improve your performance the following week.	Your reflection on the previous week includes some detail. You made some improvements from last week.	Your reflection on the previous week is general, and you do not indicate any improvement from last week.
Following reading log conventions	You made either zero or one mistake as you underlined and capitalized the important words in your titles, calculated the totals, and completed the sections. Congratulations!	You made only 2 mistakes as you underlined and capitalized some of the important words in your titles, calculated the totals, and completed the sections.	You made 3-4 mistakes as you underlined and capitalized some of the important words in your titles, calculated the totals, and completed the sections.	You made 5 or more mistakes as you underlined and capitalized some of the important words in your titles, calculated the totals, and completed the sections.

Grade = _____

Comments:

Exceeds = 95% A    Meets = 85% B    Approaching = 75% C    Just Beginning = 65% F

End of Week Reflection: Did you achieve your goal this week? Why or why not? What will you do the same or differently next week?

All of us will advance two grades in reading.
 All of us will score in the 90th percentile on state tests.

Daily Reading Log

Name		Week of				Homeroom
Setting	Title	Start Pg.	End Pg.	Start Time	End Time	Minutes	Total	Signature
Mon	In Class
	Out of Class
Tues.	In Class
	Out of Class
Wed.	In Class
	Out of Class
Th.	In Class
	Out of Class
Fri.	In Class
	Out of Class
Sat.
Sun.
Total # of Times Read							Total Minutes	