

Pronoun-Antecedent Agreement

Directions: Correct errors in pronoun-antecedent agreement in the following sentences.

1. He says that even if one gets knocked down, they can always get back up and keep trying.
2. If one's determination is strong enough, they will survive.
3. In order to survive, one must use their resources and work together.
4. If a survivor were impatient or a coward, they would have a harder time remaining alive.
5. If one wants to come out of a struggle alive, they must always try to use these tools.
6. Anyone has the capability of being a survivor as long as they never lose faith.
7. One must be determined and prepared for anything that may come your way.
8. If one is in a tsunami or freezing in the snow, they will know what to do.
9. One must always keep their mind open.
10. If one cannot use their head, they will not be considered a survivor.
11. One needs to be confident in themselves to be able to achieve their dreams.
12. One must rely on what they have to get them through the immediate danger.
13. For one to survive, they need to be emotionally stable and they need to have trust.
14. Without courage, one can't face their fears, and they won't be able to make accomplishments.
15. To be a survivor, a person needs to use their best strength and have their wits about them.
16. One won't survive unless they are valiant.
17. If one loses courage, then they are too scared of what they think might happen.
18. Having faith in oneself that they can get over an obstacle is key to survival.
19. One must depend on themselves and accept any challenge.
20. One must be smart and use their knowledge to overcome obstacles.