

Information Technology 1

2014 - 2015

Syllabus for: Herbert C. Conaway Jr.

School phone number: 432-0784

Course Description: To understand information technology you need to learn how data—text, numbers, sound and pictures—are represented in electronic form, how these are stored and transmitted, and how hardware (equipment) and software (computer programs) interact to provide useful information management tools. You also need to understand how databases work and how information tech is chosen, implemented and managed in modern organizations. Mag-Pi is implemented in the class to show you how computers are programed and used in out everyday life.

Textbook : None.

Course Projects/Requirements: Projects and Light repairs, homework assignments, study questions, final exams.

Class Grading Procedures: 50% on class Participation
40% on Projects in class
10% on Tests.

Teacher Specifics: Points will be deducted from unexcused tardy as well as Eating and drinking in the classroom. Insubordination chewing gum will Be warned the first time, the second time will be sent to the office.