Nombre _____ Fecha _____ The Present Perfect Subjunctive

"It's great that you've saved so much money with all these seeds, but what will you do next year when nothing has grown?" This is what I would like to say to my neighbor who frequently "steps over a dollar to pick up a dime." Last year he invested three thousand dollars in an absurd little company that makes air-conditioners for dog houses, I can hear him now: "In two years, when this country has finally realized that dogs also get hot in the summer, I will have earned many thousands of dollars with this investment." That was the last I heard of that venture. I continue praying that he has learned his lesson, but I fear that he will always be this way.

air-conditioner	el acondicionador	(to) pray	rezar
(to) grow	crecer	(to) save (money)	ahorrar
(to) invest	invertir	seed	la semilla
(to) learn one's lesson	escarmentar	(to) step over	pasar sobre neighbor	el vecino	this way	así
(to) pick up	recoger	venture	la empresa